The official figures also contradict the story that the passages of the fiying slackers" were paid for by "German gold" sent over from America. One thousand, one bundred sixty-five of the 1,704 cmigrants in October the United States, and of these the passages of only 77 were prepaid from the United States, in accordance which Irish with the old practice by which Irish emigrants who have settled in the United States send home the passage money of friends and relatives they have left behind. For the ten months of this year of 5.818 emigrants to the United States 505 had their passages prepaid. Last year in the same ten months out of 14,714 who went to the United States 3,619 had their passages paid for them.

It is true, however, that the desire to avoid entering the army has been added to the other causes of emigra-tion. The methods of recruiting adopted in some districts, especially in the west of Ireland, before the business was taken over by a responsible de-partment under the control of the lord lieutenant, were often very ill-judged. and irritated instead of conciliating the people. Threats instead of persuasion were sometimes used, and the people were told that if they did not come willingly they would be "taken by the scruff of the neck" and forced in under conscription. Shortly following upon these threats came the invitation of the lord lieutement, distributed by circular to almost every house in every cular to almost every house in every parish in Ireland. Memorandum Filed in Bugbee Appea

Case. Judge Gardiner Greene has filed memorandum with the clerk of the superior court in the matter of Ellen M. Bugbee's appeal from the board of relief of the town of Putnam, which case was tried recently in the superior court at Williamntic. The appellant appealed from the doings of the assessors of this town and the beard of relief, cialming the assessors had unduly raised the valuation of the Put of relief, cialming the assessors had unduly raised the valuation of the Putnam Inn property, which Mrs. Bugbee owned before it passed into the hands of Landlord Earl C. Rogers.

The board of relief gave Mrs. Bugbee no reduction from the valuation placed on the property by the board of assessors. The town claimed she had falled to comply with the statute stating under what circumstances stating under what circumstances boards may reduce lists. It was necessary for the appellant in order to have the board consider the question as to whether the var-uation of her property should be re-duced, to make a bona fide offer of a personal appearance for examination at the time and place of meeting of the board. This Mrs. Bugbee did not do and could not do no account of illness at the time, but a member of

BROOKLYN VS. TOWN TREASURER Judge Gardiner Greene Hears Testimony in Case of Selectmen George W. Eastment,

There was a session of the superior court here Friday morning, Judge Gardiner Greene presiding to take up the mandamus proceedings brought about by the selectmen of the town of Brooklyn to see if the treasurer of that town, George W. Eastment, can be obliged to deposit funds of the town in accordance with the wishes of at least a majority of the board of selectmen and, as these selectmen claim, in accordance with votes of the town. Treasurer Eastment was summoned into court on a writ of mandamus issued on Friday of last week, Judge A. G. Bill of Danlelson is counsel for Mr. Eastment.

The selectmen claimed that, in accordance with votes of the town in regular and special town meeting and the authority vested in them as select-the authority vested in them as select-men, they have a right to direct where men, they have a right to direct where the town funds shall be deposited, but this is contested by Mr. Eastment.

At the opening of court Judge Bill entered a motion to quash the entire proceedings. He said that he was in agreement with the attorneys for the selectmen, Judge Harry E. Back of Danielson and Attorney Charles E.
Searls of Putnam, that as only points of law were involved outside of differences of opinion on certain minor conences of opinion on certain minor con-siderations that the court fake the pa-pers in the case and allow counsel to file briefs.

This was what was finally done, the briefs to be in before December 6, but in the meantime it was found neces-sary to take some evidence from Se-lectmen Oliver A. Downs and Fred A. Card and from Treasurer Eastment elative to conversations they had about renewing a note of the town for $10,000 that came due at the Windham County National bank in Danielson or County National bank in Danielson on Monday of last week.

Judge Bill in the preliminary consideration of the case made the point that the surety company, which is on Mr. Eastment's bond as treasurer of the town prefers that deposits of the town of Brooklyn be kept in the Windham County National bank. Judge Bill also stated to the court that a note was made at the Windham County National bank for a renewal of the loan of $10,000 to the town of Brooklyn at the rate of four per cent, instead of five per cent, as was carried by the note that came due on Mor day, Nov. 15, and which is still overdue and unpaid on account of the differences between the officials of the town, the selectmen desiring that the loan be selectmen desiring that the loan be made from the Danielson Trust com-pany, which also agreed to offer it at four per cent., but that First Select-man Oliver F. Downs had refused to sign, as requested by Treasurer East-

Downs said that a note of $19,000 of the town of Brooklyn came due at the Windham County National bank on Monday, Nov. 15. On Sunday evening, Nov. 14, he testified, Treasurer Eastment called him on the telephone and told him the note was coming due Monday. Bowns testified that he said Menday. Bowns testined that he supposed it was up to the selectmen to see about the matter, but Eastment claimed that the matter, within the jurisdiction of matter was within the jurisdiction of the treasurer. Upon cross examina-tion by Judge Bill Mr. Downs said he
